

FREE College Workshop

FEB 24 | 12:30

A free college workshop for high school students and parents is being offered at Main Street United Methodist Church, Sunday, February 24 at 12:30 pm, lunch provided.

This workshop is for high school students who are beginning to make decisions about attending college. A group coming from Longwood University will share their knowledge on the latest admission policies but also they will spend time discussing how to remain faithful to God's teachings, keep up with academics and maintain good mental health while attending college. Even if you have already been admitted, you will want to be a part of this workshop. Invite your friends to come with you!

The workshop is applicable to all colleges not just Longwood.

- The workshop will be led by the Rev. Justin Hicks and Josh Blakely. Justin is the Campus pastor for Wesley Campus Ministries at Longwood and Hampden-Sydney. He has a passion for college students and helping them grow in leadership and find a place within the church not only in college but in the years to come.
- Josh has been working at Longwood since 2007 in a variety of roles dealing with helping students be successful in their residential campus experience. He is currently pursuing a Master's of Christian Practice from Duke Divinity and is on the ordination track in the United Methodist Church.
- Justin and Josh will provide valuable information to prospective college students. You don't want to miss this opportunity!

Sign up by February 20 online at www.mainstumc.org or by calling the church office, 757-539-8751
